26-1458	Hearst Television National Investigative Unit 1100 13th St NW, Suite 950 Washington, DC 20005 July 10, 2026 To the Keeper of Records and/or Public Records Officer: Hearst Television's National Investigative Unit is requesting the following records pursuant to your state's public records law regarding your law enforcement agency's use and governance of artificial intelligence: 1. Department-Wide AI Governance Copies of any current artificial intelligence (AI) governance framework, responsible AI framework, governance charter, governance standard, governance guidance, policy, directive, standard operating procedure, or similar department-wide record establishing how the law enforcement agency evaluates, approves, procures, oversees, manages, or governs the use of artificial intelligence across the organization. This request is intended to capture department-wide AI governance and does not seek policies governing the use of individual AI technologies, which are requested separately below. 2. AI Systems Used by the Department A list of artificial intelligence systems currently used, piloted, evaluated, procured, licensed, approved for use, or retired by the law enforcement agency on or after January 1, 2023. If available, please include the product or vendor name and the general purpose of each system. If the department does not maintain such a list, please provide any existing record sufficient to identify those systems. 3. Policies Governing Individual AI Systems Copies of any current policy, directive, standard operating procedure, guidance document, or training material governing the use of the artificial intelligence systems identified in response to Item 2, including policies specific to individual AI-enabled technologies. For purposes of this request, "artificial intelligence" includes generative AI, machine learning, computer vision, facial recognition, automated license plate recognition, AI-assisted report writing, automated decision-making systems, and similar technologies. If no responsive records exist for any item above, please indicate that no responsive records were found. Please provide responsive records electronically. Responsive records or questions regarding this request may be emailed to investigate@hearst.com within the time period prescribed by law. Thank you for your time and prompt attention to this request.
